A 025	Continued From page 2 (ADLs) and self-administration of medications. She ambulates by a wheelchair independently. On at approximately 4 PM, Resident #1 told her family member that her apartment's air conditioner (A/C) was not working. The family member submitted a work order to the facility's maintenance department to repair it. On at approximately 10 AM, Resident #1's family member came to visit and saw that a temporary portable A/C unit installed by the facility incorrectly and blowing hot air from the window because the sealant was not put around the window where the exhaust tube goes outside. The apartment's temperature was 85 degrees. The maintenance department came and fixed the temporary portable A/C correctly. The apartment had air immediately after it was fixed. On at 12:42 PM, a telephone interview with the family member confirmed that her mother (resident #1) did not go any days without cool air conditioning in her room and that the facility repaired everything immediately. The family member further stated that their profession was an engineer and that was how they observed that at first the temporary portable A/C unit was installed incorrectly on but was not going to fix it and had the facility's maintenance department fix it. The facility could not provide any written documentation and no facility service work orders for repair to the apartment's broken A/C. On at 2:40 PM, an interview with the Interim Administrator confirmed the findings and stated that she could not locate any of the work	A 025
