The patient [was] brought in by ambulance. The history says that she fell from 2 to 3 feet high after a lift failed. She fell face first on her right side. She was actually bleeding from her face and mouth and was taken by ambulance to the emergency room. . . . She has a small laceration on her forehead deep enough to be sutured, measuring 2 cm [centimeters] in length. Another 2 small ones parallel, also bleeding but this is mostly a fissure. The right eye is completely shut by hematoma. . . . She had abrasions on both elbows and right knee. Legs have + [plus] 1 pitting edema below knees. She moves both legs to command laying down. . . . Neck and head CT [cat scan] was negative for fracture or bleeding, but showed multiple facial fractures on the right side. . . . Right hip x-ray showed fracture right iliac bone. . . ." The facility's "Final Investigation Report" identified, ". . . We are unable to say for sure what exactly happened or how it happened. We can speculate that [Resident #4] may have been positioned just slightly too low in the sling and sat up and fell out of the side. We have educated the CNAs and will also work with the nurses at the next meeting to ensure they also know the protocol for total lift transfers. We have the lift that was used in the transfer put aside until the EZ Way technician can check it over and the sling was taken out as well. We will continue to do ongoing training with staff regarding total lift transfers to ensure this does not occur again in the future." | F 689                                                                      |                                                                                                                          |                            |                                                                    |
